Film Screening of Kesang Tseten's Trembling Mountain

Nepal, 2016, color, 84 min.

MONDAY MARCH 13, 2017

5 PM - 7 PM • Frederic Lasserre Building, Room 102 • 6333 Memorial Road • UBC

"The filmmaker travels to Langtang days after Nepal's April 2015 earthquake, going on to document the survivors' efforts to rebuild their lives for a full year, long after the earthquake has faded from the news. After their initial dismay at the extent of the destruction, the villagers realize that reconstruction is way beyond their physical and financial capacities. As they try to obtain government subsidies or have debts written off, they hold a remembrance ceremony with the families of the tourists who died."
